
About the Cover

This cover pictures the exciting world of nuclear science with the landscape of the Philippines. The vibrant atomic model, with its bright nucleus and orbiting electrons, is not just a scientific symbol. It is placed directly over the map of the country, suggesting a powerful connection. It speaks of the potential of harnessing nuclear science and technology for the benefit of the Filipino people. It points to progress, innovation, and a brighter future for Filipinos powered by the scientific understanding of the atom. The design evokes that within the complex world of atoms lies the key to unlocking solutions and driving positive change for this nation.
